INTERACTIVE PROGRAMS BRING BOTH CLIENT AND PERSONAL SUCCESS

MEMBERS OF THE ORION MAGAZINE SESSION AT WILDBRANCH WRITING WORKSHOP

CREATIVITY IN A CHANGING INDUSTRY

As publishing reinvents itself in a rapidly changing digital environment and shifting economy, Orion Magazine's Editor-in Chief Chip Blake is finding productive ways to balance high quality creative non-fiction, emerging print media, and the market demand for interactive online media. Prominent natural history writers Alison Deming Eric Reece, and Ginger Strand, joined Orion's Jennifer Sahn and 30 select participants attended a week long session in June at Sterling College's Wildbranch Workshop. Karen De Mauro of the environmental initiative "Naturestages" was thrilled to be chosen to take part in this dynamic work. Orion's comprehensive, innovative, and visionary writing is critical to our evolving sense of place.

NYC PREACHING SEMINAR GATHERS

The ministers who gather this fall for the advanced professional seminar in “Delivering the Gospel” are an unusual group. At a time in their careers when many people sit back and enjoy the rewards of the difficult work of ministry, these professionals gather to support one another. They explore dynamic new ways to embody words and deepen the worship experience of their congregations. The sessions at Marble Collegiate Church are co-led by author and Methodist minister John Stapleton of Aiken, South Carolina and Karen De Mauro.
